Investigation: The investigation began around 8:00 pm with the older brother (client) in attendance. The investigation was confined to the living room and kitchen at the request of the client. EMF readings were unremarkable throughout the area investigated. Digital recordings were made and attempts to elicit responses using recorders and the spirit box/portal. The Boo Bear was also employed, and a couple of times referred to being tickled which may have indicated some paranormal contact. Several things of note were captured on recorders after review. The client reported that he believed the spirit present may be that of a young child and produced a pair of child's sandals he had found it the home. The investigation was ended at approximately 10:30 pm.

EVP of a child's voice talking over Kirk's voice

EVP of a child's voice saying “Mommy”

Conclusions

The experiences reported by the client plus the recordings and EVP's captured during this short investigation suggest that there may be a paranormal presence at this location; although there was nothing to suggest definitely that this presence to be negative. The very clear EVP's of a small child may indicate a possible attachment to the sandals found by the client in the residence. This team suggests that he remove the shoes from the property and dispose of them in a common waste disposal receptacle such as a dumpster. Not only could this remove the spirit from the property; but could release it.
