

Investigation Summary Report

Opelousas Little Theater Opelousas, LA

HISTORY

Located in Opelousas, Louisiana the Opelousas Little Theater was built in 1939. It originally was built as a church and later converted into the theater. Once we arrived we were given a tour of the old theater and then it was time to get to work. We set up four Infrared cameras and our DVR. Cameras were setup in the theater on stage, in the hallway behind the stage, in the control room and one in the seating area. We had a team of 4, each carrying a digital voice recorder, cameras and an EMF (electro-magnetic field) meters. We were pleased to have the company of a three members of the theater join us for the investigation. We started the investigation around 8:00 PM.

During the investigation a few things happens that were not able to be debunked. One of these was a shadow that seemed to move across the stage once. Only 2 of our members witnessed the shadow. This was not caught on the infrared camera. Another incident was one of the seats in the theater fell on its own. One of the group members placed the seat back in the upright position and tried to make it fall again. It wouldn't budge! Two of the members had personal experiences in the makeup room. Both females felt as if something was moving their hair. The flashlights were turned on to find nothing near them.

Going over the many hours of Video and Audio was next. Nothing much was found on the DVR, mostly dust and bugs. None of the members caught any EVP's or unusual pictures. The chair falling was not caught on the cameras due to the position of the cameras.

Our visit to the Opelousas Little Theater was a good one. We were treated with hospitality and the members were enthusiastic. The investigation went smooth and at times was entertaining. If you're ever in Opelousas, Louisiana make sure you visit the Opelousas Little Theater.
